Hearing:

Said application for a proposal has been filed by the City of Red Bud, Illinois to adopt Subdivision Code Revisions for the City of Red Bud, Illinois.

Four Questions were asked of the Planning Commission:

1. Existing Use of the Property in Question
2. District class of the property in vicinity of property in question.
3. Suitability of property in question under existing zoning classification.
4. Trend of the development of the property.

All questions were discussed and answered as Not Applicable.

Jeff clarified that the changes to the subdivision code were made to clean up verbiage, reduce the number of copies of documents required, and define "minor subdivision."

Robbie had a question on 172-32C, and Jeff noted that outlots are owned and maintained by the neighboring property owner,

John had a question regarding the lessening of the specs in the code (ex. Thickness of concrete roads, etc.). Jeff noted that the specs were beefed up in the early 2000s to allow for measured growth compared to the trend in the area. Now, the specs are changed (and within IDOT standards) to spur growth.

Motion to accept the application as presented was first given by Robbie and second by Jeff. Motion was carried unanimously.
